

Transport, Handling and Storage guide

This document is intended to provide general recommendations only. Formica Group provides these guidelines and all testing, code and design data for informational purposes only and strongly advises that the customer, project owner and architect seek independent advice from a certified construction professional and/or engineer regarding application and installation as well as compliance with design requirements, applicable codes, laws and regulations, and test standards. Please check your local codes and applicable design requirements for proper use.

General

Handling and moving panels should only be undertaken by trained personnel using the correct equipment. VIVIX+® panels are decorative high-pressure compact laminates consisting of layers of wood-based fibres, impregnated with thermosetting resins. Panels should be handled with care to prevent damage to the decorative surface. Furthermore, treat the panels similar to treating hardwood.

Transport

- Use a proper forklift with a load capacity of at least 2500 kg and forks with a minimum length of 1.5 meters.
- Secure the panels with steel straps during transit.
- Fit protective corner sections under the straps.

Handling

- Treat panels with care.
- Do not slide panels. Lift panels when moving.
- Prevent dirt on and between the panels.
- Use adhesive stickers for marking / coding and remove immediately after installation.

Storage

- Store panels in a dry, clean, frost-free room.
- Maximum stack height = 6 m.
- Place pallets and panels on a level surface which provides full support.
- Keep panels in the original packaging.

- Remove steel straps if the panels are to be stored for a long time.
- Prevent a film of moisture from forming between the panels.
- Do not place any moisture-sensitive (paper) layers between the panels.
- Prevent unbalanced (one side only) moisture or temperature exposure by:
 - Leaving panels lying flat on top of each other.
 - Avoiding cavities between the panels e.g. due to panels having been machined.

Colours used in Formica's communications (including but not limited to printed matter) and in samples of Formica's may differ from the colours of the Formica products to be supplied. Formica's products and samples are produced within the specified colour tolerances and the colours (of production batches) may differ, even if the same colour is used. The viewing angle also influences the colour perception. The specified colour stability and colour specifications relate only to the decorative surface of the Formica products, not to the core material and samples of the Formica products. Colour system notations represent the closest match available in the particular system. They may or may not be exact and are provided for guidance only. When exact colour information is required, please always refer to an actual laminate sample in the specified finish. Customers and third parties must have a professional adviser inform them about (the suitability of) the Formica products for all desired applications and about applicable laws and regulations. Formica is not liable (neither contractual nor non contractual) for any damage arising from or related to the use of this document, except if and to the extent that such damage is the result of willful misconduct or gross negligence on the part of Formica and/or its management.
